Amendment to the Derivatives rules

Members are referred to market notice A1027, dated 26 February 2009, setting out the amendment to the Derivatives rules and the motivation therefore.

The Registrar of Securities Services has, in terms of Section 61 of the Securities Services Act, No 36 of 2004, approved the rule amendment, which is attached as Annexure A.

The amendment to the Derivatives rules will take effect on the date on which the Financial Intelligence Centre Amendment Act, 2008 ("FICAA"), together with the amendments to the Schedules thereto comes into operation (1 December 2010).

The background to the amendment is as follows:

The Securities Services Act (SSA) was amended by the Financial Services Laws General Amendment Act 22 of 2008 with effect from 1 January 2009. Section 18 of the SSA contains the requirements with which exchange rules must comply. Section 18 (2) (bb) of the SSA was substituted with the following paragraph:

"The exchange rules must provide –

(bb) for the supervision by an exchange of compliance with the duties imposed on its authorised users by the Financial Intelligence Act, 2001, the reporting of any non-compliance of these duties to the registrar and the assistance to be provided to the registrar in enforcing that Act, if the authorised users of that exchange are listed as accountable institutions in Schedule 1 to the Financial intelligence Act, 2001."

The JSE is a supervisory body in terms of the Financial Intelligence Centre Act ("FICA") and the JSE's authority to supervise compliance by its members with the requirements of FICA is provided for in FICA and the SSA. However, the JSE has no authority to enforce FICA. In other words, the JSE can monitor compliance by its members with FICA but it does not have the power to take disciplinary action against its members if there is a breach of the FICA requirements. This is the same supervisory and enforcement structure as is provided for in the SSA in relation to compliance by members with the provisions of the SSA. The JSE monitors compliance by its members with the provisions of the SSA but it does not take enforcement action if there is a breach of the SSA. The FSB institutes enforcement action against a JSE member if there is such a breach. The JSE only takes enforcement action if there is a breach of the JSE rules and directives.

The amendment to the SSA is a consequence of the pending amendments to FICA (i.e. FICAA) which provides the FSB with the authority to enforce FICAA in respect of authorised users of an exchange, thereby achieving the same supervisory and enforcement structure as the SSA.

The amendment to the Derivatives rules simply gives effect to the revision of Section 18(2)(bb) of the SSA. The new rule indicates to members that the JSE will report any breaches of FICAA by a member to the FSB and that the JSE will assist the FSB in any enforcement action that the FSB may take.
