Registered Persons Exam (RPE)

Introduction

The Registered Persons Examination (RPE) is intended to provide an introduction to the financial markets for persons wishing to become financial market practitioners and is also ideal for individuals in other spheres of life who wish to obtain background knowledge to enhance their career prospects. The instruments, processes and activities on the regulated exchanges as well as the over-the-counter (OTC) markets are covered.

Modules of the RPE

The RPE comprises of various modules. Learners can make up a basket of modules according to the requirements of the exchange for the specific function they wish to perform. Not all modules enjoy the same recognition by regulatory authorities and you must take care to choose the correct modules for the purpose you have in mind, e.g. if you are employed by an equities member of the JSE Limited and you want to provide advice to clients, you must ensure that you select the module called "The Equity Market" in addition to your compulsory modules. Please see Recognition of the RPE in South Africa below.

There are eight modules of the RPE:

The Regulation and Ethics of the South African Financial Markets (Compulsory module)

Introduction to the Financial Markets (Compulsory module)

The Equity Market (Elective module)

The Bond Market (Elective module)

The Derivatives Market (Elective module)

The South African Money Market (Elective module)

The South African Foreign Exchange Market (Elective module)

Agricultural Products Market Dealers Examination (Elective module)

Each module is individually assessed (examined) and has its own learning material. There is no restriction as to the order in which you must sit for the examinations i.e. it is not required that you be declared competent in (pass) the compulsory modules before continuing with the elective modules. However, if you are new to the financial markets, it is advisable to do the Introduction to Financial Markets Module before attempting the Regulations and Ethics of the South African Financial Markets.

The modules that you choose to write should be dependent on which modules are required for the specific function you wish to perform. The combination requirements in terms of the exchanges' directives are listed below. Please take note that SAIFM cannot accept responsibility for advising you on which exams you must do. Your compliance officer or the relevant exchange/FSB must be consulted.

Learner Guidance: Assessment Methodology

Self-test questions (formative assessments) in the learning material are designed to help you master the outcomes specified in the beginning of each chapter. The summative assessment (exam) will take the form of a multiple-choice set of questions that have been designed to assess whether you have mastered the required outcomes. The format of the self-test questions therefore differs from the format of multiple-choice questions and this should be kept in mind when reading the material.

Each multiple-choice question contains a key (correct answer or statement/s) and certain distracters (incorrect answers or statements). The drafter of multiple-choice questions strives to make the distracters appear plausible i.e. they look correct to a person who did not read the material properly, but they are actually incorrect. The average learner should go through the material at least 3 times and do the self-test questions before attempting the summative assessment (exam).

Activities are meant to enrich the learning process and to make it more meaningful. They are entirely voluntary and can be skipped if a learner so wishes. Activities are recommended, however, as they familiarise you with certain websites that serve as sources of information, so that you learn how to research information on your own once you are a securities market practitioner.

Learning Material

The learning material can be downloaded from the Virtual Exam Centre (www.virtualexamcentre.co.za) once the exam has been paid for. If purchase takes place by credit card through the secure e-commerce facility, the learning material will be available immediately. If you pay by electronic transfer, the exam will be loaded by SAIFM staff within 2 business days of receiving your faxed or e-mailed deposit slip.

Once the exam has been purchased, the Learning Material will be available for download until the exam has either been taken or the six-month time period (see time limits within which exams (assessments) must be taken) has elapsed.

Please ensure that you study from the correct learning material. SAIFM cannot be held responsible if the incorrect learning material is used. The latest edition is stated next to each name of the exam (see Syllabus Outline below). Each module is designed to be a self-study workbook. It contains all the information necessary to be deemed competent (pass) after the examination.

If you require SAIFM to download and print the learning material on your behalf, the cost is an additional R160-00 (incl VAT) once the exam has been paid for (excluding courier fees).

Updates

Learning material is amended from time to time.

If the learning material is replaced with an updated version that affects the exams or new learning material, notice will be given to registered learners of the changeover to the new exam. This fact will also be advertised on both www.saifm.co.za and www.virtualexamcentre.co.za. Learners may therefore, before the changeover date, write an exam based on the old material while the new material will be assessed from the changeover date. The new book will be e-mailed to learners on request from the date of notice until the changeover date.

Strict email filters and incorrectly supplied addresses could hinder delivery of notifications and SAIFM cannot guarantee that email notifications are always delivered. Learners are thus advised to check the SAIFM website for notices that may affect learning material before booking to write an exam.

If you are unable to obtain a booking at the exam venue of your choice within a reasonable period, please contact the office of the SAIFM for special arrangements.

It is advisable to take the demo exam prior to doing the exam to familiarise yourself with the format and feel of the exam. The demo exam has no bearing whatsoever on the study material. It is simply a few fun questions in order to familiarise yourself with the examination system.

You are required to take your identity document or passport with you when taking the exam and will not be allowed to take the exam if you do not produce any identification.

You must also sign the SAIFM Test Register, which will be kept at each testing centre.

Specifications of each module

Duration: 1 hour

Number of questions: 50

Competency (Pass) mark: 70%

No negative marking.

The system will keep time in accordance with the downloading speed of a particular Internet connection. In other words you will lose no time if your download is slower than normal. Please keep your eye on the timer displayed at the right hand corner of the Examination Title Screen to keep track of your time. If your time runs out, your examination will automatically terminate and your score will be calculated.

The system is specifically designed to save any questions submitted so that in the case of a power failure or internet interruption, no data will be lost.

In the event of a learner not being able to continue the exam within a reasonable period of time due to a power failure or internet interruption, the exam must be abandoned and a new appointment must be made to retake the exam.

In the event of any delay in starting or any interruption of the assessment, the learner is entitled to reschedule the exam appointment.

Should a learner decide to wait for the cause of the delay to be resolved and start or carry on with the assessment, there can be no recourse taken with SAIFM should the outcome of the assessment not be a competent (pass) mark

Exam procedure

Log in with your identity number or passport number. (This must correspond with the number used to enrol. Please leave out all alphabetical spacing symbols (-) and spaces)

- Next a screen will appear with all the examinations that you are registered for.
- Select the examination you wish to do.
- The invigilator at the testing centre will unlock the exam session for you.

The navigation bar has the following options:

Back: Regress to the previous question without submitting an answer to the current question.

Submit: Submits your answer for the current question and continues to the next question.

Progress indicator: Shows you the list of questions that you have already answered.

If you want to change the answer to a question that you have already answered, click on the question in the progress window in the bottom left hand corner and select "GO".

Leave unanswered: If you have selected an answer, but change your mind and wish to rather leave the question unanswered, select this option.

Final submission of answers: Once you have reached the end of your examination and there is still some time left, you will be requested to submit your final answers. Once you hit the "Submit Final Answers" button your final score will be calculated and you will not be able to correct any more answers.

Revision of incorrect answers

Upon completion of your exam once the results have been obtained, you will be allowed 10 minutes to review the questions and answers that you had wrong. This is the only time that will be available for you to review your incorrect answers and you will not be able to review them at a later stage.

No notes of disputed or other questions may be taken. Should you feel that a particular question/s was/were incorrect and you wish to appeal, try to remember the number of the question/s, which will enable the moderator to identify the disputed question/s. It would not matter though if you cannot remember the questions, as all questions and answers are checked when an appeal is lodged and not only the disputed ones.

Formula sheets

Formula sheets are only available to students who are writing the following modules:

- The Bond Market
- The Money Market
- Agricultural Products Market Dealers

A formula sheet will be presented to the student upon request, which must be made to the invigilator before the exam begins.

Students may not take their own formula sheets to the exam venue.

Appeals

Should a student question the correctness of a question, his or her answers can be referred for appeal at a cost of R320-00. Should it be found that the question was in fact incorrect, the student will receive credit for that question, if necessary, and the fee repaid. To receive the appeal request form, please email christie@saifm.co.za

Certificates are only printed for candidates who have written and been declared competent in (passed) the modules. Candidates who receive exemption for certain modules are not entitled to receive certificates for the modules in which they have been granted exemption.

Practice Exams

The Practice Exam for The Regulation and Ethics of the SA Financial Markets module is intended to enhance learning and provide learners a formative assessment tool whereby their progress can be gauged reliably and at the same time provide a learning aid to improve their knowledge and understanding of the learning material. It is NOT intended to coach learners who do not have adequate knowledge and understanding of the learning material through the summative assessment (real exam). SAIFM disapproves of such practices especially in the case of a licensing exam such as the RPE.

The practice exam will replicate the real exam (summative assessment) in format, style, marking facility and review function. The questions will be in the same style covering the same outcomes as the summative assessment (real exam). To prove our point, we have included a small percentage of real questions and they are truly indistinguishable from the practice ones. But you can judge for yourself!

The feature we believe will add the most value is the feedback from the learning material that will be displayed in the review function for questions answered incorrectly. Learners will thus understand where they went wrong. Also, learners who are unnerved by the computer-based format of the RPE exams will also be considerably calmer when attempting the summative assessment (real exam) since they are now used to the format.

Learners will be entitled to try the exam three times and an hour will be granted to review and read the feedback on incorrect questions.

The cost of the Practice Exam is R675-00 and can be purchased online with your credit card at www.virtualexamcentre.co.za or via EFT (see Enrolment and Payment)

Note that you may only purchase the Practice Exam if you have already purchased the real exam. There is currently only a practice exam available for the Regulation and Ethics of the SA Financial Markets module.

Strate E-Learning

On 6th July 2007 Strate launched its E-learning solution. E-learning is a vehicle, which uses technology to enhance the traditional approach to learning. Historically Strate has offered lecture style training where candidates have attended evening lectures or participated in a half day or full day seminar where classroom style training has been provided.

The E-learning solution allows for training “anytime / anywhere”. The benefits and advantages of E-learning include:

- ④ encouraging students to take responsibility for their learning;
- ④ it overcomes timing, attendance and travel difficulties;
- ④ it provides a consistent message - E-learning eliminates the problems associated with different instructors teaching slightly different material on the same subject;
- ④ faster roll-out of training; and
- ④ flexibility.

E-learning gives people an opportunity to purchase a “Knowledge Disk” for each component of a study module. These disks are computer based and consist of visual lectures which can be viewed from a candidate’s work or home computer.

Knowledge Disks

The E-learning program for Equities, Bonds and Money market has been divided into separate modules. Each module is represented by a Knowledge Disk. Disks can be purchased from Strate directly. Please see www.strate.co.za for further information or contact Abigale du Sart at Strate Training +27 (11) 759-5352 or e-mail strate-training@strate.co.za to place an order.

Strate Seminars

The purpose of holding seminars is twofold:

1. it provides candidates, who have previously passed an examination module with an opportunity to participate in a refresher course on one or more of the individual components within a study module; and
2. it gives candidates the opportunity to gain an understanding of a specific Strate topic in an interactive environment as opposed to the self-study approach which is provided for in the Strate E-learning solution explained below.

The seminars are held at Strate’s offices in Illovo, Sandton or at a venue of the client’s choice. The different seminar modules are listed below. Please note the below modules can be requested at any time for a group of 5 people or more. Please see www.strate.co.za for further information or contact Abigale du Sart at Strate Training +27 (11) 759-5352 or e-mail strate-training@strate.co.za.

Exam Format

The summative assessment (exam) will take the form of a multiple-choice set of questions that have been designed to assess whether you have mastered the learning material. Each multiple-choice question contains one or more keys (correct answer/s or statement/s) and certain distracters (incorrect answers or statements). The drafter of multiple-choice questions strives to make the distracters appear plausible i.e. they look correct to a person who did not read the material properly, but they are actually incorrect. The average learner should go through the material at least 3 times before attempting the summative assessment (exam).

The system will keep time in accordance with the downloading speed of a particular Internet connection. In other words you will lose no time if your download is slower than normal. Please keep your eye on the timer displayed at the right hand corner of the Examination Title Screen to keep track of your time. If your time runs out, your examination will automatically terminate and your score will be calculated.

The system is specifically designed to save any questions submitted so that in the case of a power failure or internet interruption, no data will be lost.

In the event of a learner not being able to continue the exam within a reasonable period of time due to a power failure or internet interruption, the exam must be abandoned and a new appointment must be made to retake the exam.

In the event of any delay in starting or any interruption of the assessment, the learner is entitled to reschedule the exam appointment.

Should a learner decide to wait for the cause of the delay to be resolved and start or carry on with the assessment, there can be no recourse taken with SAIFM should the outcome of the assessment not be a competent (pass) mark

Exam Dates and Venues

Exams do not take place on set dates, but on any date that suits the candidate as long as it falls on a business day within the 6-month time limit (see below) and subject to the availability of an opening at the exam venue concerned. When you are ready to write your exam, contact the exam venue closest to you and make a booking directly with them. Go to www.virtualexamcentre.co.za for the exam venue list.

If you are unable to obtain a booking at the exam venue of your choice within a reasonable period, please contact the office of the SAIFM for special arrangements.

It is advisable to take the demo exam prior to doing the exam to familiarise yourself with the format and feel of the exam. The demo exam has no bearing whatsoever on the study material. It is simply a few fun questions in order to familiarise yourself with the examination system. You are required to take your identity document or passport with you when taking the exam and will not be allowed to take the exam if you do not produce any identification. You must also sign the SAIFM Test Register, which will be kept at each testing centre.

Appeals

Should a student question the correctness of a question, his or her answers can be referred for appeal at a cost of R320-00. Should it be found that the question was in fact incorrect, the student will receive credit for that question, if necessary, and the fee repaid. To receive the appeal request form, please email christie@saifm.co.za

Results and Certificates

Your results will be available immediately upon completion of your exam and a printout made thereof. This will be proof of the result of a particular module with your score indicated on the printout. Upon completion of the required number of modules you will receive a certificate. For example, if you complete Strate Module 1, Strate Module 2 Equities I and Strate Module 3 Equities II, Strate will issue a certificate certifying that you have obtained the Strate Compliance Officer Equities. Certificates will be printed and posted within the following month of being declared competent in (passing) your qualifying exams.

Disclosure of results

Results will not be given to third parties unless the learner has given written authority for the third party to obtain such information. Without this authority, results will only be disclosed to exam candidates / learners themselves.

Lectures

The study material for the exams offered by SAIFM was designed as self-study courses and contains all the information required to pass the exams. However, some students may need or prefer to receive lectures or private tutoring in respect of problems experienced.

SAIFM does not provide lectures. Lectures are provided by outside companies that are not affiliated, accredited or endorsed by SAIFM in any way.

SAIFM does not keep a list of trainers and does not disseminate contact details of trainers.

Under no circumstances should it be assumed that SAIFM recommends the services of any company and learners engage the services of any trainer entirely at own risk

SAIFM is prepared however to assist individual students that may have trouble to understand some aspects of the study material, including doing the calculations and working your calculator. If you require extensive assistance or assistance at a level beyond which SAIFM's staff can provide, you may consider enrolling for lectures or using a private tutor.

It is advisable to contact previous clients of trainers or tutors to gauge satisfaction levels before engaging their services.

NB: The database of questions of SAIFM is confidential. Therefore no trainer will be able to guarantee that his or her training will ensure that you pass the exam. Your own efforts alone will ensure that.
